RE: Proposal for Enhanced Issues Development and Support Expansion in Washington

Thank you for requesting this proposal. I will outline the three goals we spoke about and provide initial ideas for further development regarding desired success in Washington.

As we know, the Dayton Peace Accord (DPA) that ended the homeland war in Bosnia and Herzegovina (BiH) may be the most complex peace treaty ever ratified. Given this knowledge, it is easier to appreciate the inherent difficulties for implementing progressive policies in Washington to adequately address the ongoing political and economic majorization of the Croatian citizens of BiH.

The treatment and condition of these Croats has dramatically deteriorated over time. A domestic path forward in BiH for their political and economic welfare is not easily seen in the midst of this 'frozen conflict'. The future treatment of Croats in BiH is emblematic of the eventual success of the entire country. Croats are the only connection currently keeping BiH together as a nation.

A 'Europeanization' of the DPA and the national Constitution is long overdue. Such an approach will address the persistent inhibiting activities by the leadership of the other two constitutive peoples of BiH. To accomplish this, day-to-day pressure is required in Washington. I will adopt prior knowledge achieved while addressing these matters and the sound experience gained from work on related issues over the past fifteen years as the government relations point person and Washington representative of the National Federation of Croatian Americans (www.nfcacf.org).

This experience includes the drafting and promotion to introduction on May 8, 2013, of Senator Mark Begich's (D-AK) resolution in the US Senate. The Begich Resolution (S. Res. 131) calls for: (1) a 'special envoy' to be appointed by President Obama to evaluate the 'successes and shortcomings' of the DPA in BiH, and (2) a comprehensive report back to the US Congress to assist the Obama Administration in the development of legislative solutions for this long-standing crisis. The Begich Resolution link is: <http://thomas.loc.gov/cgi-bin/query/z?c113:S.+Res.+131>:

As is understood by most national and international actors, the local political representatives (ie the ethnic 'elites') in BiH do not have the necessary political heft - or commitment - to effectuate progressive change. Thus, the United States must re-engage more fully in BiH, in parallel with the EU, and promote implementation of relevant adjustments to the DPA if Bosnia and Herzegovina is to eventually become a successful and well functioning new nation-state.

This efficient proposal outlines a reasonable and realistic program for the next six months in support of the client's goals. The initial three goals for the first six months will be to:

1. Finalize needed one-page issue briefs that outline the political, economic, media, and related issues that require attention by HDZ 1990 party and the Croatian Sabor of BiH. We will put in place methods to extend - and amend - these tools and quickly develop a process for additional information inputs when and where needed regarding reform of the Federation of BiH, and of BiH as a whole. This includes the constitutional provisions affecting the Presidential elections process to ensure proper Croatian representation.
2. Strategize an approach to bring back proper focus in Washington on BiH, including the day-to-day needs and concerns of Croatian nationals in BiH, as well as their national leadership's political and economic goals. We will work diligently towards expanding support in Washington and in BiH for the domestic and international goals of the client entity - HDZ 1990/Croatian Sabor of BiH - and the interests of all Croats in BiH. Special care will be given to prioritizing and re-prioritizing the issues to be pursued in Washington and elsewhere as required by the client.
3. Develop the needed network of sympathetic and effective Members of the US Senate and the Congress, establish functional access to National Security Council staff at the White House, and develop additional rapport with relevant diplomatic personnel at the US State Department. We will work in concert - when helpful for pursuing our goals - with the diaspora and related agents in Washington for the other two constituent peoples of BiH, including relevant diaspora representatives from nearby Balkans countries.

Agreement on Professional Engagement: We agree to pursue these issues and projects stated above for six months at $4,000 US per month. Reasonable expenses will also be included for proper reimbursement with the end-of-month invoice and brief report. However, no expense above $50 US will be expended without prior agreement by a designated representative of the client group.

At the end of the initial six-months engagement, and HDZ 1990/Croatian Sabor of BiH decides to continue our involvement, the monthly retained fee will be increased to $5,000 per month. The length of time for an extended engagement will also be established at that time.

If you wish to suggest changes to the above relationship and the project(s) outline, please advise accordingly.

Puno hvala.
